TOWANDA BALL GAMES

Local Team Has Been Putting up Some Fine Exhibition.s

LOST TO CUBAN GIANTS 3 TO 1

Ten-Inning Game Played at the East Side Grounds Tuesday With the Colored Aggregation—Other Games the Past Week.

After having led the Cuban Giants by a score of 1 to 0 up to the first half of the ninth inning, Towanda lost to the famous colored aggregation Tuesday afternoon at the East Side grounds here by a score of 3 to 1. But it was a ball game and everybody got his money's worth of the real article of the American game. The deciding runs were made in the Cubans half of the tenth inning.

For Towanda Staub opened the hits by a banger that netted him three bases in the second but nothing was good beside, Lynch going out, third to first and retiring the side. It looked like a score again in the fifth when Cotter made a fine three-base hit but Russell, who got first base on balls, with Shay to bat, took a chance at running second and was nipped in the bud.

Towanda made her run in this manner. Shay reached first on a muff of Wallace's bad throw to first. Putnam struck out. Mike Madigan hit and Shay scored but Madigan got out at first and J. Madigan went out, short stop to first. Kline made a hit in the seventh but the side was retired. In the ninth J. Madigan hit but was forced out at third and Kline's big fly to center field was gathered in in a fine running catch.

The Cuban boys got a hit in the second by Garcia and another in the fourth by Wallace but Towanda retired the side without a score. In the sixth Towanda retired the side after the visitors had a man on third base, Putnam getting an infield fly. In the seventh Wallace hit, Garcia was out, pitcher to first, Northrup hit, Wallace going third. Northrup however was caught at second by a fine throw by Russell, and Cotter fanned Boland.

The tying run was made by the visitors in the ninth. J. Madigan dropped Gordon's fly. Gordon scored on Williams two-bagger. Wallace struck out and Putnam caught Garcia's liner and doubled Williams at second. Towanda blanked in the ninth but the Giants got two in the tenth. Northrup pounded the s-here for two bases. Boland went out, M. Madigan to Shay. Northrup scored on Lyons hit. Satterfield was out, pitcher to first. Lyons scored on Shay's muff of Lynch's poor throw to first base. Gordon hit safe. Then Williams hit but cut first base and the side was out. Towanda was blanked in her half of the tenth. Cotter fanned. Russell went out on a fly to the infield and Shay followed suit in a fly to left field.

Putnam made a fine back running catch in the sixth and put up a great game throughout. Cotter pitched an elegant game for Towanda and Russell was all to the good all the way through. Lyons, who pitched for the Cuban Giants, was the best pitcher seen in Towanda this year. He used varied speed and curves throughout and his judgment was fine. The coaching by the visitors was a feature of the game and kept the good sized crowd present in a roar during the game. Satterfield at short was the clown of the bunch and every time he opened his mouth a juicy "watermillion" joke came out. Eugene D. Means umpired the game in a very satisfactory manner.

TOWANDA BESTED NORWICH ON THE HOME GROUNDS.

Won a Four to Three Game on Wednesday Afternoon.

The Towanda base ball team upheld its reputation Wednesday afternoon, taking a game from Norwich on the East Side grounds by a score of 4 to 3. The game was watched by a fair sized crowd, and while it lacked the snap usually seen it was an interesting contest. The visitors know the game and played to win, but lucky hits at the right time did the trick.

Towanda has a new player at first in the person of Shay of Owego. He is a good all round player, especially so in his own position and will prove a valuable addition to the team.

The score getting was begun by the visitors in the third period. Callister hit to center and got first on a poor throw, stole second and third; Backus walked. Plunket then plunked to deep center, scored Gallister and Backus and came in on a high throw. Brooks flied to Jess Madigan, who made a fine catch; T Poole got first sack on a high throw, but the next, Cattrell, fanned. That ended Norwich score getting.

Just to even things in the same innings Shay hit through center; Putnam hit out a two bagger in the same territory, and was advanced by M. Madigan's hit to right; J. Madigan hit to center, stole second; Staub put one to short, and advanced to third on Lynch's hit, which brought himin. Kline struck out, and so did Cotter. Five hits in this inning netted three runs.

Towanda had one score in the second, made by Kline who hit to third and got first by the first baseman's error. Cotter hit to right and got initial sack on the same play, letting Kline score. Cotter was caught at second and Russell fanned.

Time of game one hour and 25 minutes. W. S. Beck, umpire. Strike outs were even, Cotter and Backus each having 7 to their credit.

TOWANDA WALLOPS THE OWEGO BASE BALL TEAM.

Defeated Them at East Side Grounds 6 to 0.

The Towanda base ball team had sweet revenge here Friday when the reorganized and rejuvented, rehabilitated and entirely new throughout Owego players were defeated by the decisive score 6 to 0. There was nothing doubtful about the defeat and a grand total of 11 hits by Towanda with only one man striking out tells the story. Cotter's work and the fine game put up by the Towanda team tells why Owego didn't cross the plate.

The game was an interesting one all through, although the score was one-sided. Owego went out one, two three in the first, got one hit in the second by Peck's two bagger, while White duplicated it in the next inning. But a third out was on hand to let the runner die at third. Peck got another hit for Owego in the fourth while the fifth was bloodless, Cotter causing three men in succession to bite the dust on strikeouts. The sixth didn't see a man on first but in the seventh Owego got Nichols on the bag through being hit by a pitched ball but Sullivan's out put on the blinkers again. In the eighth Owego's hopes were raised when Fencke's hit was juggled. White was out at first, but Fencke reached third. Then Cotter fanned Baker and it was all up again. Black got first in the ninth but Nichols made the third out and the game was over for Owego.

Russell was first to the bat and went out. Then Shay, who formerly played with Owego, began a batting attack with a two-bagger. Putnam was out and then M. Madigan hammered out a drive that scored Shay. In the second Lynch got first on short stop's error and then Kline made a great drive past center for two bases that scored Lynch. Shay got another hit in the third but the side was retired. In the fourth Towanda fell on Owego's new pitcher, Barr. M. Madigan hit, J. Madigan flied out. M. Madigan got third on a passed ball and Staub flied out. Then Lynch ripped out a single and Madigan scored. Kline made another hit but Cotter was out at first.

R. D. Gray of Beech Flats grange, assisted in conferring first and second degrees at Open Hand Grange last week.

The Pomona grange picnic is to be held August 26 at a point to be agreed on by the picnic committee.

The annual session of the Pennsylvania state grange will be held at Erie, Dec. 13 to 16.

One of the Pennsylvania traveling libraries is in use by the Open Hand grange. All seem to enjoy it and are trying to get benefit thereby.

The Pennsylvania Economic Zoologist at Harrisburg is ever ready to answer all inquires concerning insect pests, so every patron should communicate with him when in need of information regarding any of the kind that destroys the fruit of his labor.

One of the patrons of Wester Bradford says the letter B may be found on every oat leaf. It is true that on many leaves there is a stiffening that in many cases resembles the letter B but is some times has the form of K, sometimes it has the near appearance of P, and sometimes it is only a bar across the leaf. After the oats begin to ripen the stiffening disappears. Many other species of grass have a bar or stiffening across the leaves near the end of the leaf, while in some species it is several inches from the end.

Many Glacial Markings.

One of the finest points to see and examine glacial markings in Bradford county is along the roadside of Joseph H. Bailey's in LeRoy. The place is so prominent it ought to be called Glacial Point. It should be an object lesson for the young and lead, at least a few to study more of the works of nature.

In the hustling season of the year when there seems to be hardly any time for recreation and all is work from morning till night, the thinking patron often wonders how it is that one brother is farming on alluvian bottoms, where the soil is made up of a pulverized mass from many geological ages, while another is toiling among the rugged sandstone, possessing a stubbornness of texture that is very perplexing to say the least. One is reaping the reward for his labor is planting his seed in the disintegrated substance that has been the grave yards of objects of the animal vegetable kingdoms during its many past ages, while yet another is turning up the ancient framework of numerous vertebrate fish, so many and marvelous as may be found in the Upper Chemung age. Another is perhaps solving the problems of life while at work disturbing the remains of invertebrate life in his every day routine of work to produce sustenance for himself and family. Of farms and farmers there are many, so of the soil we can well say there are many, and the kinds are so varied as can be from decomposition of animal and vegetable life in beds of sediment deposited in the water of the sea.

The season of picnics of every kind is at hand and many people will have what is called a "good time," and yet not be able to give a real sensible reason for calling it so. Recreation is one of the objects of a grange picnic but it should not be the highest object of a true patron. Each should be able to feel that he gives or receives light to keep his in store for future use. If no light has been given to the brother or sister or to those outside the gate the picnic work is in vain. Something to keep is store should be the object of all but it should remember that who gives light also receives it.

Useful Botany Sessions.

One of the most useful meetings of the grange is that of Flora when superintended by one who has made a thorough study of botany. The practical lessons that may be introduced are many and can be made very attractive to those who have had no scientific instruction on the subject. More attention should be given to the subject as the vegetable kingdom is the principal one of him who plants and sows in full faith of receiving a reward. Flora's field covers a kingdom that knows no fruitage for man's sustenance without flowers at the beginning. Art has found many ways to aid nature in producing variety for the good of the laborer and we know of no better place to give this instruction than in the grange room.

To be sure it would be well to give noted attention to the subject in the school room but as the matter stands today the way to reach the farmer of the present is in the grange room. Amusement, instruction and much profit may be gained from a first-class Flora's Meeting such as might be had in almost any of the granges of the county. The first trial might not be a success in all but perseverance conquers for him who wills it.

POTATOES VS. TOBACCO.

Largely Reduced Acreage of the Latter in the Valley.

Believing that other crops can be cultivated with less labor and yield more profitable returns, many of the tobacco growers of the Chemung Valley are reducing their acreage this year while others have abandoned the raising of the crop altogether.

A fair estimate would place the acreage at one-fourth in the aggregate. A few of the growers who have but a few acres of land and have cultivated nothing but tobacco for years, have planted the same acreage as heretofore.

In most instances where less tobacco has been planted the same space has been used for potatoes, and in the event of a successful year for the potato crop, the price for this product may go even lower than has the price of tobacco in the few years just past.

The farmers have the satisfaction in believing that the price of potatoes will be forced down by the natural cause of overproduction, while the outrageously low price obtained for tobacco is thought by them to be caused by a combination of the buyers and dealers. Whatever the cause of low price of tobacco, one thing is a certainty and that is this, no grower can produce a crop and pay expenses at the price paid last year.—Chemung Valley Reporter.

A physician was called and without taking any anaesthetic or making any complaint the little fellow alowed the crushed arm to be amputated and himself watched with interest the doctor's method of treating it.

Seriously Charged.

Great indignation has resulted at Pittston because James Armstrong got drunk and while in an intoxicated condition abused his wife shamefully. He threw her on the floor with such violence that her right thigh was fractured: A crowd of men who heard of the affair met Armstrong on the street later and gave him a severe beating. He is now in prison in default of $500 bail.

WEDDING AT ATHENS

Interesting Ceremony Performed at Presbyterian Church.

THEY WILL RESIDE IN TURKEY

Rev. Henry H. Riggs Married to Miss Annie Caroline Tracy—Bride and Groom From Missionary Families. Wedding's Details.

One of the most interesting events of the season was the wedding at the Presbyterian church in Athens on Wednesday evening of last week of Rev. Henry H. Riggs and Miss Annie Caroline Tracy, Miss Tracy is well-known in this region as the daughter of a former Athenian, Mrs. Mara Park Tracy, who, with her husband, Rev. C. C. Tracy of Smithfield lineage, have been for 40 years missionaries in Marsovan, Turkey in Asia, though now tarrying in this country. The groom is a son and grandson of missionaries; both he and Miss Tracy were born in Marsovan. He has for two years been president of Euphrates College at Harpoot, Turkey, where he will at once take his bride. The American Board, under which he labors, granted him the unusual privilege of coming to America to be married.

The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride, assisted by the brother, Rev. Charles Tracy, who has recently been ordained, and with his bride is about to enter the mission field. Chester Tracy, a brother of the bride, was best man. The bride was given away by her cousin Mr. Edward C. Tracy, of Waverly. She was attended by a maid of honor, her sister, Miss Mary Tracy, and two bridesmaids, Miss Emma Riggs, sister of the groom, and Miss Jessie Murray. The ushers were Messrs. David Decker of Waverly; Harry Parks, of Patterson, N. J., J. W. Beaman and Harry Crandall of Athens.

There were present at this wedding a few who remembered the marriage of the father and mother in the same church some 40 years ago. The love and best wishes of many friends attend this young couple. The bride and groom expect to sail from Boston July 27.—Athens Gazette.

SMULL'S HAND BOOK.

Thirty Thousand Copies Have Just Been Gotten Out by State.

Thirty thousand copies of the 1904 volume of Smull's Legislative Handbook have just been completed at the state printery for distribution. Everything contained in previous volumes is included in the present one, excepting the Declaration of Independence and the Articles of Confederation. The number of pages has been reduced, however, by about 150, the new volume consisting of nearly 1,100. The omission of the Declaration and the Articles got rid of half a dozen pages and the other 140 pages were eliminated by condensing the matter in "making up" the pages.

Additions to this volume, as stated in the preface, are the election laws of 1903, the vote for State Treasurer, Auditor General and judges of the Superior Court by counties; national and state revenue and debt statements; state appropriations for 1903-05. The lists of Federal state and county officials have been carefully revised to date.

A special train arrived here on last Wednesday on the Susquehanna & New York road bearing a party of prominent men who were the guests of President C. S. Horton during the trip. The party returned at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

BASE BALL CRABBERS.

Movanho Club of Sayre Adopts the Tag Ticket Scheme.

Towanda has been more or less bothered with the base ball crabber who sneaks in the field without paying. Games are expensive and it is a despicable trick. Sayre has been in the same boat and the Movanho club which runs the games there adopted the scheme of giving each person who paid an admission a tag which he wore. All those who did not have a tag were accosted. Some paid like gentlemen but others refused.

Even members of the club were among those who sneaked in. From this on there may not be as large an attendance at Sayre games but the element which has paid no admission will have to pay or stay off the grounds.

On Saturday last occurred a very pleasant event at the Pickering home, it being the seventy-sixth birthday of Mrs. Nancy Tingley. The neighbors and friends for miles around gathered to surprise the lady and it was an old fashioned surprise, too. One hundred and fifteen took dinner in the spacious dining room. The day passed in visiting, music and singing. A cordial invitation was given for all to meet at C. H. Allis's the last day in August for the Allis reunion.

You have paid $2.50 for it, the shoe $1.97 at K. D. Westbrook's.

The three great staples—corn, cotton and wheat—make an imposing show at the world's fair.

There is no better seed bed than a clover sod turned over the previous fall, and it will fit almost any crop.

The best place to keep the milk in warm weather is in the stomach of the calf after it has been run through the separator.

Be he pedagogue, politician, peddler or patriot, when he calls keep him on the other side of the fence and send for your wife.

The first bale of Texas cotton of the 1904 crop was sold June 20 for $115, and the first car of new wheat brought a dollar a bushel.

The Russians are coming to have a profound regard for a fish and rice ration. It will do things which they had not dreamed of.

The restoration of the pass privilege to the stockmen of the country is worth $1,500,000 to them and to this extent helps out the cattle business.

When you keep a scrub male of any sort you work against your own interest, and when you let such an animal run at large you do your neighbors an injury.

If a pocket gopher shows up in your orchard you will do well to drop all other business and get him. He likes the roots of the apple trees and makes the worst sort of havoc.

The traction engine is being generally used to haul the road graders and on long stretches of grading does vastly better work than can be done with horses and at less expense.

The boy who faithfully works for his father on the farm until he is of age is entitled to something more than the parental blessing and some good advice when he starts out for himself.

One may bind a tenant for a year to keep things from getting any worse on the farm, but it is almost impossible to arrange for him to leave the farm in better condition than when he went on it.

If we were looking for a cheap piece of land today we would hunt up some wet and swampy tract which could be drained at a moderate expense. We would then have fertility enough to last a lifetime.

There are 31,730,000 acres of cotton growing in the United States this year. If an average crop of half a bale to the acre could be secured the crop of 1904 would exceed that of 1903 by nearly 5,000,000 bales.

The average farm should have two teams of horses, one pair of heavy draft mares which should raise a pair of draft colts each year. The other team should be a pair of 1,200 pound geldings handy for the road and the lighter farm work.

One would have hardly thought the fad would have died out so quickly, but we notice that only the small sum of $148 is devoted by the St. Louis fair to the exhibit of Belgian hares, hardly the price asked for one rufous buck rabbit four years ago.

If a train load of cows a day for thirty days could be sent out of the dairy herds of Minnesota and Iowa to the canneries at Chicago it would be a good thing for the dairy interests of those states. Instead the sharp buyers for the Elgin dairies are all the time picking up every good cow they can.

Wherever the straw has a feeding value, and it has through most of the country, it is every way better to stack the grain in good shape as soon as fit and thrash late in the fall or in early winter. The straw is then not wasted and spoiled, as with August thrashing. The grain is also of better quality, and help to do the thrashing is far easier to obtain.

A lot of cherry pits which were thrown away on an ash pile were found by the birds and every one carried away—eaten, we suppose. We are curious to know why these birds—robins, catbirds, brown thrashers and blue jays—cared for these bare cherry stones when they could not digest them. Perhaps it was that innate bird depravity which makes them want to gobble everything belonging to the cherry whenever they find it.

There is not a little demand on the part of some of the people for the government ownership of railways, and it is worth noting that such government ownership is not always a success and never under any circumstances gives the public as efficient service as when the roads are controlled and operated by private individuals. Recently Argentina has disposed of two of its principal lines of road to private parties, as the government could not operate them with success or make them pay.

THE SMALL FARM.

The small farm solves many problems. It means freedom from debt, of itself no small blessing. It means no interest to pay, no annoyances with the hired help problem. It compels an intensive system of agriculture with a needed fertilization of the soil and a well ordered rotation of crops. It does away with all the hurly burly of a big gang of hands to look after both outside and inside the home. It makes possible a better way of living and insures more and better neighbors, is the begetter of better schools and social privileges and enables a man when he gets a dollar to stick it down in his jeans instead of having to turn it over to some hired man or bank cashier or machine man. With fewer acres a man must study the question of putting his few acres to the best use, and so he inevitably becomes a more scientific and practical farmer. The limitations placed on the keeping of stock almost compel the keeping of only the best kinds, and in all these and in other ways the small farm becomes a real blessing not only to the man who owns and works it, but to the whole community where it may be located.

You sell a good deal of water when you sell hay from the windrow, no matter how well it may seem to be cured.

Boiled down, it may be said that the amount of meat, butter and eggs which a farm will produce very largely determines its value.

The water which collects in a barnyard after a heavy rain makes a most excellent fertilizer for all flowers, especially so for roses.

A ton of cotton seed will produce 40 gallons of oil and 700 pounds of oilmeal. This was thrown aside as worthless twenty years ago.

When a man cuts down twenty acres of clover or timothy on Saturday he puts himself where it is very easy to break the fourth commandment.

Argentina takes more American made farm machinery than any other country. The soil, crops and climate are almost duplicates of those in this country.

The color of the shell of the egg in no manner determines its edible or nutritive value, but the color of the yolk does, the dark colored yolk being much richer than is the light colored one.

The bee is always the fitting complement and adjunct of the orchard. It there finds food and in finding it performs a great and valued service to the fruit grower in the fertilization of his trees.

Where is the sense of paying a traveling tree peddler 75 cents for the same apple tree which you may buy of your home nurseryman for 15 to 20 cents? Yet hundreds of men are doing this all the time.

Lots of men could not do a better thing than to convert a mortgaged quarter section farm into an unincumbered eighty. They would thus have more money in their pockets and sleep better o' nights.

There is no question that alcohol is a great power in this country, but its power is wrongly applied. It should be used as a motive power for machinery instead of being used to fire men to do their very worst.

The testing and weeding out of a dairy herd in Tennessee resulted in increasing the income from $2,800 to $4,500. On a smaller scale this same result may be obtained in half the dairy herds in the country.

It is a curious comment on our dairy methods that we now import more cheese than we export. We killed our export cheese market years ago and gave it to Canada by working the skimmer too hard before we put in the rennet.

Perhaps it is just as well that the losses sustained by the farmers of the country because of the use of barbed wire fences should not be known. It would total an immense sum from the horses killed and maimed and the stock killed by lightning, more than any one thinks for.

A country drive recently showed us eight farm homes where a nicely kept lawn adorned the homestead. In each case where these lawns were to be seen the corn rows were straight, the hog lot located back out of sight and smell, a windmill furnished a supply of spring water, and the house and barns were neatly painted.

An interesting and a compensating feature connected with the very disastrous floods of last year in portions of Kansas and Missouri was the almost complete annihilation of all gophers, prairie dogs, rats, mice and rabbits within the limits of the territory so flooded, the floods doing what all the traps, poison, dogs and guns had failed to do.

Fourteen thousand homesteads of 640 acres each, a part of the Great American desert, are being parceled out this month of July to actual settlers in western Nebraska. Much of this land will grow alfalfa, and where this can be done the land is very valuable, but where alfalfa will not grow the land has but little value for agricultural purposes and must remain for all time a mere stock range save in the limited [illegible] may be possible.

"A WELL FED PEOPLE."

The American people do not properly appreciate the excellence and abundance of their daily rations of food They are the best fed people on earth We recently saw a large painting whereon the artist had depicted a dozen faces—an old man and woman, toilers in mine, factory and field; little children—types of humanity which never had enough to eat. There were a horrible gauntness and a look of almost hopeless despair in these poorly nourished faces, the look of the hungry wild beast, the soul beclouded with ever present pangs of hunger. There are more people of this sort in the world than we dream of, in the city slums, on the starved acres of Ireland, in India, in China, wherever there is poverty of soil, excess of population, drought or flood or insect pest, or where the hand of despotism touches humanity. For his three good square meals a day, whether he lives in town or country, for the always ample supply of palatable and nourishing food, the American citizen should return daily thanks.

THE MYSTERY OF CLOVER.

The mystery of clover, particularly white clover, is a puzzle. Here last year all the pastures and roadsides were white as the drifted snow with clover bloom and the whole country as fragrant as the gardens of the gods. It was jubilee year for the bees, which worked ten hours a day for six weeks lugging the toothsome wealth of sweet to their hives. The bulk of this clover went to seed, five times as much seed as was needed to insure a good stand this year. But where is the clover? No sign of it anywhere, save a few small patches here and there, and the bees this year foraging around old sugar barrels and the like, hardly getting enough to keep body and soul together. It is all very queer and in line with the unexpected and unwelcome advent of some of our insect pests and animal diseases, coming and going without apparent cause.

THE LAST OF THEIR RACE.

We had the pleasure lately of seeing one of the two or three remaining herds of buffalo, the scant remains of the mighty host which thirty years ago swarmed on our western plains. In this herd, owned in northeastern Iowa, are one aged bull, a typical old stager of the plains, and three young bulls, the balance cows, heifers and calves. Three healthy and thrifty calves are the crop of this year. All attempts which have been made at this place to secure a hybrid cross with our domestic stock have proved failures, abortion resulting in every case tried. We understand that the same result has followed attempts made in the same line with two other herds. It will require much care from now on to preserve any specimens of the buffalo, for their increase under domesticated conditions is very small.

THE CEMENT AGE.

By some the present is termed the golden age, by others the age of electricity, but we question whether it might not be more properly termed the clay and cement age, the marvelous and increasing adaptation of these materials in constructive work being one of the wonders of the present day. There is nicely illustrated in this matter the ease with which a new commodity is made to take the place of an old one as the latter becomes exhausted or too high priced. The cement block factories are springing up all over the country and furnishing at most reasonable prices a most ornamental and enduring fireproof building material, while it is almost as cheap today to build a house with brick as with lumber.

WASTE ACRES.

There are vast areas of the richest land in the world on the bottoms of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers which, subject to complete, certain and periodical overflow, can never be made of much use in an agricultural way. Protection by levee system may reclaim a part of them, but the great mass of these choice lands will be to all intents and purposes waste lands for all time to come. If the rich soil of which they are composed could only be excavated and dumped over the states of Massachusetts and Connecticut, what a nice thing it would be!

A man never gets so little sympathy as when he squeals over a horse trade.

Alfalfa might be used on scores of wornout eastern farms and regenerate them.

Keep the steer calf fat all the time and the heifer just thrifty and growing, but not fat.

In the Tyrolese Alps the men knit stockings when they have a spare hour; here they spin yarns.

The crate of twenty-four boxes of strawberries costs about 52 cents to pick and crate ready for market.

It paid well to hold over both potatoes and onions the past year. The 40 cent crop last fall brought $1.30 in March.

When the weather is right and the fish bite, the best thing to do is to have a day off and take the boys for a day's fishing.

KRUGER DIES IN EXILE

Former President of Boer Republic Victim of Pneumonia.

WOULD BE BURIED AT HOME

British Government to Be Asked to Grant Oom Paul's Dying Request That He Be Permitted to Lie Beside His Wife in the Transvaal.

Paris, July 14.—Ex-President Kruger of the Transvaal died at 3 a. m. at Glarens, Canton Vaud, Switzerland.

Mr. Kruger, who was staying at the Villa Du Bolchet, had been gradually failing for a long time, but he was able to attend to affairs, read the newspapers and receive visits until Saturday. A change for the worse set in on Sunday. He became unconscious Monday and remained so until his death. Besides the Eloffs, Mr. Kruger was attended by his own physician, Dr. Heymann, and by his secretary, Mr. Redel.

On several occasions Mr. Kruger had expressed a desire to be buried beside his wife, in his own country. The ex-president's body has been embalmed and placed in a vault pending funeral arrangements. Application will be made to the British government for authority to transport the body to the Transvaal.

When Mr. Kruger recently left Mentone his health was gradually failing through old age, constitutional disorders and throat troubles, which threatened to extend to the lungs. However, his personal physician, Dr. Heymann, did not apprehend a speedy crisis and Mr. Kruger himself resisted the idea that his physical powers were failing.

Nevertheless, his near friends recognized that Mr. Kruger's once rugged constitution was gradually going to pieces. Visitors described him as being a pathetic figure of calm endurance. His eyesight had dimmed, but he sat much at times with his Bible open before him, muttering well known passages.

Stephanus Johannes Paul Kruger was born on Oct. 10, 1825, at Colesburg, Cape Colony. He married a Miss Duplessis, and after her death married her niece, of the same name. His third wife, who died in 1901, was the Mrs. Kruger who remained in the Transvaal president's house at Pretoria during the Boer war and who received General Lord Roberts there.

Paul Kruger trekked across the Vaal river in 1839 and settled with his fellow Boers in the then remote and inaccessible veldt. Under the South African Republic organization he was commandant general in 1863 and a member of the executive council in 1872.

England saw Mr. Kruger and he saw England as a visitor in 1883, when he was sent there as a delegate from the Transvaal. He traveled in Holland and Germany the next year. He had been made president of the Transvaal Republic in 1882, was confirmed in office in 1883 and was re-elected in 1888, 1893 and 1898, his presidency ending with his retirement to Europe in wartime.

The Jameson Raid.

Before the war the most conspicuous episode of Kruger's life was the anticipating and repelling of the Jameson raid. He knew of the plot to overthrow the Boer republic, in which the British South Africa company and even Cecil Rhodes were freely said to be concerned. Kruger secured peace at Johannesburg by promising reforms. Then he suppressed the telegrams of friends who warned Jameson to "go slow," timed the famous "ride" on accurate information from over the border, and "polished Jameson off when he got him."

The exiled Kruger was at Nice on March 5 of the present year, when he heard of Dr. Jameson's appointment as premier of Cape Colony.

"I believe there is no longer justice in God or man. This is too much. It is incredible," were the words with which he was said to have received the news. He was ill even then and his excitement was so great that physicians had for an hour to give him powerful stimulants before he recovered from the shock.

BIG DAM BURSTS.

Flood Does Enormous Damage at Scottdale, Pa.

Scottdale, Pa., July 18.—With the roar of Niagara, the new reservoir of the Citizens' Water company burst and more than 200,000,000 gallons of water rushed down the valley, sweeping all before it and inundating crops and wrecking buildings in its path.

When it was discovered that the dam was in danger of breaking messengers were hastily sent through the valley to warn the people of their peril. Hundreds of lives were thus saved, for a few hours later the whole valley was under water.

The damage to the machinery and reservoir alone will amount to at least $50,000. When the torrent swept down upon the valley buildings were torn from their foundations and carried on the crest of the great wave like so many washtubs.

Crops valued at thousands of dollars were wiped out. Bridges were carried away. In the gorge just below the dam huge trees were torn up by the roots and stones weighing tons were overturned by the flood.

The new pump and engine installed Saturday below the face of the dam to pump the leakage back into the reservoir were wrenched from their foundations, propelled twenty yards from their original positions and buried under the mass of wreckage from the wall.

Big Storm at Cortland, N. Y.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 18.—A special to the Post Standard from Cortland says the most severe electrical storm in the history of the town has occurred in that section. Lightning struck in many places about the city, but only one small fire resulted. Numerous blazes were seen in the surrounding country. Telegraph and telephone wires were interrupted. Crops were washed out and beaten down by the unprecedented downpour. Four feet of water were reported running over the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western tracks at Blodgett's mills, and a washout was feared.

Several Watertown Houses Struck.

Watertown, July 18.—A fierce electrical storm passed over northern New York in the night. Several houses in this city were struck, and numerous hay barns in rural districts were destroyed. Several fine selections were given by the Guthrie brothers on the violin and cornet.

It was voted that the next meeting be held at the same place the last Thursday in June, 1905, with the hope that all present might respond to the roll call and the number reach the 200 mark. Also that a notice of the present meeting be sent to the Reporter-Journal for publication.

It is understood that everything that can be done will be looked after by the business commiteee to make the next meeting a still greater success.

In the seventh Towanda made three runs. Cotter was out at first. Russell hit safe and Shay got first on a a hit too hard to handle. Putnam planked out a hot single, scoring Russell and then trusty Mike Madigan banged out a great two-bagger that sent Shay and Putnam home. Mike was called out for cutting first base, and J. Madigan flied out. In the eighth Towanda went out in succession, Staub striking out, the only strike out in the game secured by Barr.

Owego put up a great kick in the third because Shay juggled a ball and then caught it again, Owego claiming that he was off the base when he got it. Umpire Means called the man out and also called Black out for getting hit with a fair batted ball. At this Owego was going to leave the field but as the decision was right decided to stay. They had no cause to object to any rulings on bases and balls as the umpire's work in this respect was about as near perfection as umpiring can be.

The summary gives Cotter 10 strike outs to one for Barr. Not a base on balls was given but each pitcher was credited with a wild pitch. Towanda made 11 hits to Owego's four and made five earned runs to Owego's none. Each pitcher hit a man. Towanda got two men to first on errors and Owego one.

TOWANDA ATHLETICS AND ULSTER PLAYED HOT GAME.

County Seat Second Nine Won Out by Score of 2 to 1.

The Towanda Athletics base ball team and the Ulster nine played a hot game of ball at the East Side grounds at this place Saturday afternoon and it was only in the last half of the ninth inning that Towanda managed to bat out a run that won the game. The Athletics were defeated at Ulster last week so that each team has now a game. The third game will be played at Ulster next Saturday.

The game here Saturday was about as clean an exhibition of base ball as could be played and had the abilities of the teams been understood there would have been a good deal larger crowd over to see it. The batteries were Hart Tracy and Thomas Killlea for the Athletics and Johnson and McQueen for Ulster. Tracy had eight strikeouts and Johnson nine. The star pay of the game was a one-handed catch by H Mathews of the Ulster team who jumped in the air and after getting the difficult high liner, fell to the ground but still kept his hold on the leather sphere. Towanda's crack pitcher, Jack Cotter, umpired the game in a very satisfactory manner.

The summary gives each team an earned run, two base hits to Cooper and Tracy, two bases on balls off Tracy and four off Johnson. Johnson hit one man. The tabulated score was as follows:

TOWANDA, PA., JULY 21, 1904.

NO GREATER INDUSTRY.

There are about 5,000 residents in Towanda proper and another thousand or so who live near enough the borough line to be called residents. What if every one of these residents of reasonable age should become a town boomer and a town helper? Could there be any greater industry?

Those who attended the general conference of the Methodist church at Los Angeles were amazed at the intense city spirit of every resident of the place. There is no other spot on the face of the earth but Los Angeles. Other places might have their advantages but there was but one Los Angeles. That is the spirit that makes for good.

Towanda has no lack of men who are ready to take a hold of every feasible project and subscribe liberally for it. This is right. It argues well for continued business success. It means more factories, better houses, better streets and general prosperity. But there are some who do not fall into line.

They have not been touched by Towanda spirit. They need it and the town needs it. Get next to the town spirit. It will do you good and it will do the town good.

The death of Samuel M. Jones, mayor of Toledo, known throughout the country as "Golden Rule" Jones, calls special attention to a man distinguished in many ways, not the least of which was his firm adherence to the theory that it always pays in business, in politics and in all the affairs of men, to live up to the standards of genuine christianity. In politics he never actually identified himself with any political party, but always took an active part in political affairs. Seven or eight years ago he was nominated for mayor of Toledo by the Republicans, and was elected. He was denied a renomination for alleged causes which he declared unjust and unfair. Thereupon he announced himself an independent candidate and was re-elected by a much greater majority than he had received when he was the Republican candidate. Mayor Jones was a native of Wales, but was brought to this country when an infant. He started life poor, and at the age of 60 died worth a million dollars, much of which he acquired by a successful invention in oil pumping machinery.

With the strike of the meat packers rendering a scarcity of meat likely the following from the Detroit Journal will be interesting: "Europeans are very properly amazed at the enormous amount of meat that we Americans feel called upon to devour in the course of the 24 hours. Europeans, particularly in warm and temperate climates, are content with a third, or less. The most of us eat meat three times a day, the year around. It is bad for our stomachs. It is bad for our brains. It is bad indeed for our pocketbooks. Even when employees are content and beef plentiful, meat shold not appear upon the family menu more than three times a week."

Aaron Timbers, Sims and Austin, the three men who were convicted of the horrible assault upon Mrs. Biddle near Burlington, N. J., received a sentence of 49 years each at hard labor in the state prison. Judge Gaskill imposed the heaviest sentence in each case of rape, entering a house and resisting and attacking officers. A few sentences like these will tend to keep the depraved from the commission of such outrages.

The Pennsylvania and the Hillside Coal & Iron Companies are enforcing a new temperance rule with great success at their collieries in the Luzerne region. It provides that applicants for positions and men suspended for losing work through drinking shall before they are put to work take the pledge for a year. The enforcemnt of this rule will, the officials hope, make nearly every worker a temperance man.

The State Board of Game Commissioners report that 200 dogs have been killed by the wardens for running deer in this state since January 1. Foreigners continue to give the department the most trouble violating the game laws and they defy the wardens and threaten to kill them when arrests are made.

WHAT IS THE ISSUE.?

The platform adopted by the Democratic National Convention bears in every line and paragraph the impress of the men who framed it and of the party whose principles it embodies. It is weak and evasive in its treatment of the National issues which it discusses and its silence concerning the vital question of the campaign is so cowardly that it was promptly repudiated by the man whom the party had chosen to lead it to battle.

Its declarations on the two leading political issues of the day, the monetary question and the tariff, well illustrate its attitude on all the other which it attempts to discuss. As originally drafted the platform contains a financial plank which recognized the retirement of the money issue from our politics and attributed this to an act of God in multiplying our gold resources. It was as follows: "The discoveries of gold within the past few years and the great increase in the production thereof adding $2,000,000,000 to the world's supply, of which $700,000,000 falls to the share of the United States has contributed to the maintenance of a money standard of values no longer open to question, removing that issue from the field of practical contention." Bryan, although a large majority of the committee was against him at the start, bulldozed that body into killing that plank and the platform will go before the people without any expression whatever on the finance question. All the New Yorkers, the Murphy men as the Hill men, came to the convention resolved to insert a gold plank in the platform, and most of the rest of the Eastern section of the party stood with them, but the opposition of the West and South was so powerful that, rather than have another fight on this issue on the floor of the Convention, they dodged it altogether with the hope of fooling the silver men and the gold men among the voters.

In its treatment of the tariff question, the platform is equally dishonest. It says: "We favor a wise, conservative and business like revision and a gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of the masses and for common weal, and not by the friends of its abuses, its extortions and its discriminations." The Democratic majority in Congress framed this sort of a tariff in 1894 which the Democratic President called the "party perfidy and party dishonor" tariff, and which he refused to sign, letting it go on the statue books on the expiration of the ten days' time limit. That tariff failed to produce either revenue for the Government or protection for the producers. The fear of the framing of such a tariff which the people began to feel just as soon as the news of the Democratic victory in 1892, precipitated the panic in 1893. This panic and this tariff were among the things which incited that popular revolution which threw the Democracy out of control of Congress in the election of 1894 and expelled it from the Presidency in 1896. Had the platform framers in St. Louis mentioned this piece of recent history they would have thrown a little side light on their purposes at the present time, and have shown the people just what to expect, if the Democratic demand for a "wise, conservative and business like revision and reduction of the tariff" should chance to be endorsed at the polls.

It is hardly necessary to go farther in review of the platform which throughout is misleading and dishonest. Happily, the people who decide the destinies of parties know the record and attitude of the two great political organizations which are now asking for their confidence and support. They can not be obscured or blotted out either by an eleventh hour repentance or by falsification of past history. On one side is the party that has met, fairly and honestly, every political issue now before the American people. On the other, the party that for forty years has had but one well defined political tenet—opposition to anything and everything which the Republican party favored. As a result it has been on the wrong side of every question that has come before them for decision. The two conventions, the two candidates, and the two platforms indicate the fundamental issues of the campaign. With these issues so clearly defined there should be no hesitancy on the part of any voter in arriving at a conclusion as to which party he will support.

A cold blooded government expert went from Washington to Massachusetts to investigate the plague of moths in that State, and when he had looked over the situation he said that every farmer could easily keep his own trees clean, and if every one did that, the plague would be abolished. But that isn't what Massachusetts farmers maintain government experts for.

Senator Thomas C. Platt of New York state, the "easy boss" is 71 years of age. Several attempts have been made to place the "easy boss" away in some quiet, "easy" place but he always bobbed up serenely. A man is never old unless he thinks he is and the veteran senator doesn't propose to be ousted until he is ready

DEMANDS FOR INSTRUCTION.

The Wilkesbarre Times adds its strength to that of those many other papers who are advocating the instruction of young boys in the art of swimming. A young boy was drowned there the other day, just another in the big list of drownings in the Susquehanna this year.

"We wonder when our city fathers, or some of our wealthy citizens, will realize the necessity of providing public swimming baths on sanitary grounds, or for the purpose of learning to swim and to save life, or for the pleasure a swim gives in the hot season of the year? Will it be necessary to offer up any more lives to the moloch of procrastination before a real, practical move will be made to give the city free public baths?

"There is surely something due to the boys of this city in the shape of recreation grounds or the means of swimming and for the pursuit of happiness. Will our city fathers ever condescend to do something for them?

"If the Councils will not or cannot provide the baths, then it is incumbent on their part to put up, without delay, at certain points grappling irons, life buoys, life lines, so that something may be quickly done when any life is in danger."

The Democratic nominee for President is receiving, as he deserves to receive, much praise for the courage he displayed in sending a telegram to the St. Louis convention defining his views on the money question. His final action was much more creditable that the strange silence he resolutely maintained in regard to this vexed question before the convention was held. His courage in sending the telegram was commendable but an earlier declaration would have been much more so and would have shown a much higher degree of bravery and would have relieved him from the suspicion that his action was an adroit political stroke to win votes. Mr. Bryan in commenting on Judge Parker's course, expressed the thought of many others when he said in his remarkable speech in the convention:

"I think it is a manly thing for a man to express his opinion before the convention adjourns. It would have been manlier to have expressed it before the convention met. It is a manly thing to express his opinion before the delegates act finally upon his position but it would have been a manlier thing had he expressed his opinion before the voters throughout this country went to their caucuses and the primaries and sent instructed delegates here."

The peddler has now a new trick. He is going the rounds of the country selling goods "damaged in the Baltimore fire." Of course the peddler says the goods are sold way below cost and that he's giving them away. As a matter of fact no reputable merchant or peddler can give goods away and when a man proposes any such sacrifice the purchaser had best keep his hand on his pocketbook. The Baltimore fire dodge is a good one like the "goods smuggled through from Canada and sold at a great bargain."

Pedestrians have some rights on the streets in New York. A chaffeur ran down a rheumatic old gentleman and was fined $21 and sent to prison for 21 days. An appeal was taken. Judge Salzberger said: "The pedestrian is entitled to the freedom of the streets with reasonable assurances of safety, despite the coming of the automobile. Even though bent with age or crippled with rheumatism, he still retains the right to life and to limb, and that right must be respected. The judgment of fine and imprisonment is affirmed."

Professor H. T. Colestock of the Mansfield Normal faculty, has been tendered the principalship of the new manual training high school to be established in Harrisburg next Fall. Pupils hereafter who are prepared to enter the high school may attend either the regular or the manual training school—and if at the latter about half their time will be devoted to the practical arts.

Ex-Senator Davis, the vice-presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket, began life as a railroad brakeman, and is now reputed to be worth $40,000,000. With that as a campaign barrel, he ought to be able "to run to beat the cars."

Cortland, N. Y., now reports the drowning of a fourteen-year-old boy. The frightful record will continue until the question of instruction in swimming is taken hold of in earnest.

The Japanese armies in Manchuria are drawing together, and Kuropatkin has decided that "when Jap meets Jap then comes the tug of war" for him.

It is now prophesied that Dr. Swallow will come out third in the presidential race. It is considered safe to put your money on Swallow for place.

TEACHERS' WAGES ADVANCING.

Nearly Double Minimum Rate Offered in Many Places.

It will interest teacher readers, and others who aim to keep tab on school matters, to know that some of the Western Pennsylvania districts are offering $50 to $60 a month for eight and nine month terms in common schools. Four Mansfield Normal graduates have been lately placed by the Normal Teachers' agency in that part of the state at these figures.

Perhaps the strongest demand just at this time, and most difficult to fill, are principalships of township high schools. On account of the requirements under recent rulings of the State department, graduates of the Normal course before it was lengthened to three years, are unable to fill these positions. They pay from $60 a month and upward.

Bradford and Susquehanna counties have a larger number of these schools than almost any other part of the state.

The Foundation.

Of new advertisers who expect instant results from the first appearance of an advertisement an experienced merchant says: "The first investment in advertising may not pay at once, but, like the foundation of a house, it is necessary. When additional stories appear the house is a landmark, and not till then."—Philadelphia Record.

WANT CUMULATIVE DIVIDENDS.

Holders of Lehigh Valley Preferred Stock to Contest.

The holders of the preferred stock of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co., of which but $106,300 is outstanding, are to make a test case in court to determine whether or not the 10 per cent guaranteed dividends on this stock is cumulative or not. If cumulative, then they are entitled to the 10 per cent dividend for each of the past ten years, during which no dividends were paid.

Most of this stock is held by estates, and the trust companies controlling it feel that an amicable action to determine the question is necessary.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT.

R. W. Baxter of Nebraska Chosen to Succeed J. A. Droege.

Official announcement has been made of the appointment of R. W. Baxter of Nebraska as superintendent of this division of the Lehigh Valley to succeed J.A. Droege. Mr. Baxter's term will begin on July 15. He is a native of Scotland and is 45 years of age. He began railroad service in this country in 1870 as a telegraph operator on the Union Pacific and from that time until 1890 remained with that road, gradually working up to the superintendency. On April 15, 1891 he was made superintendent of the Ohio and Midland division of the B. & O. and was soon again after superintendent of a division of the Union Pacific.

Later he was superintendent of Nebraska division of the same road. He is a warm personal friend of M. B. Cutter, the general superintendent of the Lehigh Valley, and his wide railroad exeperience undoubtedly means that an excellent official has been named.

TROUBLE OVER THE CONTRACT.

Contractor for Luzerne County's Court House Invokes Law.

Wilson J. Smith, the contractor on Luzerne county's new court house, was notified a few days ago that he must resume work on the building or the contract would be taken away from him, and he has declined to obey the command, addressing a long letter to the commissioners in reply.

The contractor claims that many blunders have been made by the architect, increasing the cost of the work, and that the blame for these mistakes should not be laid at his door. Refusal on the part of the comptroller to approve the revised pans caused considerable delay, and the contractor also claims he has not been paid for all his work he has done.

Mr. Smith will endeavor to have the matter adjudicated in the courts, and his communication to the commissioners is said to have put the court house situation before the taxpayers of the county in an entirely different light that they had viewed it heretofore.

AN ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

Midnight Prowlers Tried the Windows of a Cherry Street House.

Burglars again visited the Third ward on Thursday night, attempting an entrance to the residence of C. E. Loetzer on Cherry street. Mrs. Loetzer heard the men, but it was not until she had summoned her next door neighbor, H. H. Blair, who came out with a gun the robers ran down Cherry street.

Some one was first heard prowling about the house about 12:30 o'clock, Mrs. Loetzer being awakened by hearing them walking on the roof of the porch. They had climbed to the porch roof by means of a vine, and were trying the different windows. It is probably the same parties who ransacked Mrs. Maria Carroll's house two weeks ago.

DIED IN THE WEST.

Former Sayre Railroader Fatally Injured in Chest.

Jesse M. Burnham, a former resident of Sayre, died at Joliet Ill., last week from the effects of a blow in the chest from a coupling lever. Mr. Burnham was a conductor of a freight and was assisting in making a coupling when he received the fatal injury. He was 35 years of age and lived at Sayre for about 11 years.

Mrs. Burnham came East with the body and interment was made on Saturday afternoon in Tioga Point cemetery. Mrs. Burnham's first husband, a man by the name of Croup, was also killed while working as a fireman on the railroad.

Receiving Vault Completed.

The new stone and granite receiving vault at Tioga Point cemetery is now completed and is one of the neatest of its kind in the state. The vault just completed is nineteen feet by twenty-four feet and stands at the end of Cemetery avenue, the street leading to "The quiet city of the dead." Its walls are of blue stone and it has a cornice of Ohio granite above granite pillars. The doors are of steel and the windows are protected by steel screens."—Sayre Times.

His Opinion in Brief.

The Duluth Herald has been interviewing some of the prominent Democrats there on their opinion of Judge Parker and the platform adopted by the Democratic national convention. One of those questioned was Francis W. Sullivan, Esq., formerly of this place. Mr. Sullivan's reply was short but right to the point. He said: "I am glad that I am a Democrat with a good platform and a good candidate."

New Institute Teacher.

Principal Stiles of the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute at this place has secured as one of the members of next year's faculty at the institute Miss Fannie D. Oakman of Shelburne Falls, Mass. Miss Oakham is a recent graduate of Smith college and comes with the highest recommendations for scholarship and ability. She will teach principally French, German, Latin and history.

Street Fair at Sayre.

The Movanho club of Sayre realized about $308 out of the street fair held there last week, this being 15 percent of the receipts of the attractions. After paying for the lighting bill, this left the club just enough to liquidate the indebtedness of its baseball team.

VISITING AUTOMOBILIST HAD EXCITING RIDES.

Three Accidents From Scared Horses During His Brief Stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Kattell of Binghamton came to Towanda on Saturday in their big red touring car to remain here over Sunday. Mr. Kattell came to Towanda in a composed state of mind but was on the verge of nervous prostration before he left yesterday morning. Three different horses got scared at his machine and in two cases quite serious accidents resulted. Mr. Kattell says that he never had an accident before although he has owned an automobile for some time.

The first of the three accidents happened on Saturday evening. Mr. Kattell was running the car near Greenwood and came to a narrow place where he unexpectedly met a horse. The horse shied and as there was no guard rail erected by the township authorities near a bank at the spot the wagon dropped down over the bank. Luckily no damage resulted from this.

Sunday afternoon at about 4:30 o'clock Mr. Kattell was running the machine down South Main street. Near B. T. Hale's house he met a single rig in which were Miss Eva Burley of Scranton, who is visiting here, Miss Ellie Coolbaugh of Hollon Hill, Miss Anna May Lines, a ten-year-old girl of this place, and Richard Lewis, who works at the Ward House stables. The horse jumped into the ditch and Lewis was thrown out and his leg was slightly lamed. The horse then ran to Grant street where the other occupants were thrown out and the horse broke loose from the buggy.

Miss Burley was cut about the head while Miss Coolbaugh had a tooth broken off, her face badly skinned and received a cut in the head from which the blood ran profusely. Two stitches had to be taken to close the cut. The little Lines girl was slightly hurt in the thigh. The horse was cut in the leg and two wheels and the dashboard of the buggy smashed.

Yesterday morning Mr. Kattell's auto stuck as it was going up Main street near John R. Rahm's house. Mr. Kattell was testing the car and the machine was making considerable noise. Mrs. C. Manville Pratt attempted to drive her horse past the machine and the horse got scared and gave a sudden turn. Mrs. Pratt was nearly thrown out but held to the carriage top, Dr. S. M. Woodburn, who was trying to assist in fixing the automobile, ran to Mrs. Pratt's assistance and grabbed the reins. The horse started down the street and as he came to a telephone pole Dr. Woodburn kept on one side so that he could stop the frightened horse with the leverage of the pole. The rein broke, however, and Dr. Woodburn was thrown headlong in the ditch, striking on the left side of his face. His face was skinned some and the lobe of the ear torn. It required several stitches to sew up the injury. Mrs. Pratt succeeded in getting out of the carriage without being injured although she narrowly escaped striking a tree as she jumped out of the wagon. She was somewhat bruised in the accident.

Sewer System for Sayre.

The borough council of Sayre is discussing the project of laying a sewer in the town. The railroad town that is nearing the size of a city, is absolutely without a sewer, and the town fathers have awakened to the fact that unless a sewer is provided in the near future the health of the inhabitants may be endangered. Less than 20 years ago there was no Sayre, the site of the town being a cow pasture with the straggling lines of the Lehigh passing through. Now the town is the largest on the Lehigh between Pittston and Ithaca. The rapid growth of the town has made it almost impossible for the municipal improvements to follow the pace, and this is the cause of the town being without a sewer.

Authorities Butted In.

A boxing and wrestling carnival was announced to be held in Loomis Opera House on Wednesday evening of last week, and the management went to considerable expense to advertise it. On the forenoon of the day Manager Tobias received word from the Tioga county officials that the proposed exhibition was contrary to law and must not take place. Several Towanda admirers of pugilism went to Waverly expecting to see the fight.

Would Like to Meet Pupils.

Professor Humphries, principal of the Towanda public schools, may be found at his office in the high school building any weekday morning after 10 o'clock, where he will be glad to meet parents, or pupils who may have conditions in any subjects. He would also like to meet all pupils promoted from the eighth grade, to talk over with them the course of study they expect to take in the high school next year.

New Railroad Folder.

The Susquehanna & New York railroad has just sent out copies of a handsome new folder giving the time tables of that road as well as a number of fine half tones of scenes along the line. A writeup is given of each town touched by the road. The folder is very neat typographically.

Guests at Lake Wesauking.

Among the new guests at the popular Lake Wesauking hotel are John Lanson and family of Philadelphia, Mrs. Stewart S. Shinn and daughters of Atlantic City and Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Riggs of Turkey.

YOUNG GIRL RAN AWAY.

Constable Guy C. Hollon has had an interesting case before him the past week. It appears that the county commissioners indentured the pretty fourteen-year-old daughter of Lucy Rose out to Postmaster I. L. Secor of Powell. She has been there for some time but last week ran away, taking with her a small sum of money not belonging to her. She came to Towanda and stayed all night at McCormick's place near the Third street bridge and also visited the home of the Welch family in the Arcade block. It is said that the Rose girl was making plans to go to Elmira with a Towanda girl and they were to go to work in a factory there.

Mr. Secor swore out a complaint for the girl and Mr. Hollon found her at the Arcade block. He told her mother about the girl's running away and the mother finally made a complaint before Judge Fanning that the girl was incorrigible. On Friday Judge Fanning will grant a hearing in the case. Lucy Rose, the girl's mother, was married last week to Michael Vincent and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent are now living at Wysox. Justice C. M. Hall performed the interesting ceremony that made them man and wife. Mrs. Rose-Vincent has a large family of children, a number of whom were born while the mother was at the county house at Burlington.

LIGHTNING STRUCK HOUSE.

Bolt Hit Residence at South Burlington Friday Night.

Lightning struck the house of J. H. Rubert of South Burlington at about 10 o'clock on Friday night and besides shocking Mr. Rubert, who is 89 years of age, did considerable damage to the house. The bolt struck the top of the house where it separated. Part came through Mr. Rubert's bedroom and knocked the legs off the bedstead and cut a hole through the floor.

Another part of the bolt tore things in the upstairs rooms and in the buttery. Windows and doors were smashed, while Mr. Rubert, who had retired for the night, was badly shocked; it is not thought that there will be any lasting effects from the lightning.

LITTLE CHILD LOST.

Nellie Allen Gave Her Friends Several Hours of Anxiety.

Little Nellie Allen, the three years old daughter of Ray Allen, who lives with her grandparents, Officer and Mrs. J. W. Allen, on Park street on Thursday gave all concerned several hours of keen anxiety by wandering away to explore the town on her own account. The little miss was found about 1 o'clock on North Main street, playing with other children, none the worse for her trip.

The little girl was playing about her home early in the forenoon and simply wandered away, getting farther from home all the time.

At Kerrick's Camp.

The following young people enjoyed themselves at Kerrick's cottage below Rumerfield last week: Misses Winifred and Nina Lewis and Bertha Giess of Sayre, Victoria Griswold of Waverly, Ethel, Charlotte and Lena Lewis, Anna Clancy, Coryl Lewis and Lena Gerould of Towanda, Addie Lyon of Franklindale, Edith Dunfee of Monroeton, Rodney Grace of Jersey City, Harry Giess of Newport News, Va., Fred Schumann, D. E. Kline, Edward Wood, David Rutty of Towanda, Edward Giess and Dor Rawley of Sayre, Edward Mitchell of Greenwood and Henry Porter of Towanda. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rockwell of Towanda.

Death of an Aged Lady.

Mrs. Elizabeth McGuirk died Friday morning at the home of her son, James McGuirk, on Packer avenue, aged 75 years. She was born in Queens county, Ireland. She is survived by three daughters, and two sons— Mrs. C. C. White and James McGuirk of Towanda; Mrs. Alberson of Kansas City, Mrs C. H. Hausberg of Trinidad, Col., and Francis McGuirk of Washington state.

Funeral services were held on Monday in St. Basil's church at Dushore

Enroute to the Hospital.

Susquehanna & New York locomotive No. 108, the big machine that went down with the high bridge wreck a couple of weeks ago, was in the Towanda yards Thursday on its way to the repair shops. The fittings were pretty well stripped from the boiler, the cab, running boards, piston rods, pilot, etc., being piled in a promiscuous heap in the tender. The tender was not so badly damaged.

New Bank's Good Showing.

A statement sent out by the Keystone National bank of Scranton, of which M. J. Murphy, formerly of Towanda and later of Athens, is cashier, makes a splendid showing for the new bank, which opened for business on June 25. The bank is capitalized at $50,000. At the close of the first day's business there were deposits of $83,512.88, and on July 11 deposits of $113,992.29.

Broke a Bone.

Nathan Gordon, a resident of Towanda, but who has recently been working in the shops at Sayre, had the misfortune to break one of the bones in his right foot Friday morning. He was loading copper on a small car when the car toppled over on to his foot. He went to the hospital for treatment.

Foxy Bowser And the Poor

He Gets Very Sympathetic For Them All of a Sudden When Mrs. B. Mentions an Evening of Pleasure.

[Copyright, 1904, by C. B. Lewis.]

DURING the afternoon Mrs. Bowser had accepted an invitation to drop into a neighbor's in the evening, and when Mr. Bowser came home her first greeting was:

"I knew you'd like to have a few games of euchre, and when Mrs. Green asked us to come over this evening I told her that we surely would."

In reply he uttered a sort of groan—a sad, solemn groan.

"You'll go, won't you?"

Another groan, and still more sad and solemn.

"Mr. Bowser, are you ill?" she asked in sudden anxiety.

"Not ill, woman," he answered like a man who had been told that he must have six teeth pulled on the morrow, "but—but"—

"But what?"

"But there will be no euchre for us tonight. I have been thinking today. I have been thinking how carelessly and frivolously we are living our lives—how little we care for the misfortunes of others—how selfishly we lie down at night and rise up in the morning, taking no heed of the tears and heartaches of our fellow human beings.

"Yes, Mrs. Bowser, I've been thinking, and the result is I'm ashamed of myself. If dinner is ready I will eat a few mouthfuls, but at the same time I shall feel conscience stricken to remember the thousands and thousands who will dine tonight upon nothing better than cold water and potato peelings."

"I don't see why you should get such a fit on," remarked Mrs. Bowser as they got seated at the table.

"It is no fit, woman," he replied. "It is rather a case of conscience. We have been too frivolous, too unsympathetic, too heedless of the sorrows of others. Day by day we have laughed and rejoiced and made our own selfish plans, but have we given a thought to the dark shadows hovering o'er the hearthstones of people around us?"

She saw that he had developed a new fad, and one that could not be settled in a minute, and she decided to say nothing further until dinner was over. Mr. Bowser devoured a generous piece of porterhouse steak and groaned. He helped himself to creamed potatoes and sighed. He salted and chewed up three stalks of celery, and the tears almost stood in his eyes. Everything went to show that there would be a bad half hour when the sitting room was reached, and the cook caught Mrs. Bowser's eye and gave her to understand that she had her full sympathies.

Mr. Bowser did not immediately break out after the finish of dinner, but walked to and fro and shook his head and drew long breaths that tapered off like dying gusts.

"The Greens will be very much disappointed," Mrs. Bowser finally observed, dreading the inevitable, but yet wishing to have it over with as soon as possible.

"Woman, have you no heart?" demanded Mr. Bowser as he turned on her. "Down on the next block despair may be enshrouding a family, and yet you are all agog to spend the evening as if human tears were as cheap as water!"

"I don't know that anything in particular has happened down on the next block," she retorted. "If misfortune has come to any one, near or far, I am sorry for it, but will it do them any good for us to sit poked up in the house? You don't think everybody on this street sits down and groans and sighs and weeps when you have one of your fits of indigestion, do you?"

"By John, but how cold—how cruel—how heartless!" he sighed as he stepped back to look at her. "Mrs. Bowser, I don't believe that you would shed a tear if you heard that five innocent little children had been run over and mangled beyond recognition by a street car."

"If I shed a hundred tears would their parents know it? In this world each of us must bear his own sorrows and misfortunes. When you lay stretched out on that lounge the other day with what you thought was a carbuncle on the carotid artery and you thought the shadow of death was sitting beside you, our grocer and butcher were doing business the same as usual, and the street fakirs came along and yelled 'Sweet taters!' as cheerfully as if we were holding a birthday party. Indeed a boy stood at the gate and sung in a loud voice:

"Old Bowser's very bad—
He is—he is;
Old Bowser's going to turn his toes,
And I don't care which way he goes,
For biz—for biz—gee-whiz—gee-whiz.

"That's what he roared out, Mr. Bowser, and I was expecting to be a widow every few minutes, and yet you ask me to sit here and weep because some one we never heard of has met with sorrow or misfortune."

"Woman, I wouldn't have that heart of yours for all the money in America," he said, as he hesitated between kicking at the cat, who was taking it all in, or pounding on the table with his fist. "No wonder you have made fourteen different attempts to assassinate me since our marriage. No wonder that sorrowing men, weeping women and grieving children cast one glance at this house and then shudder and hurry along. It wasn't a week ago, as I got off the car, that a wild eyed tramp, fleeing for his life, dashed past me with terror depicted on every line of his countenance. You had been threatening his life, no doubt, instead of giving him words of sympathy."

"Yes, I remember," she quietly remarked. "He called for a bite to eat, and while the cook was getting it ready for him he stole a bottle of claret off the sideboard and took a skate. He wasn't flying for his life, but for his claret."

"I'll never believe it—never on this earth. If I was in sorrow and misfortune, one look into your cold and unfeeling face would chill me to the marrow. All this long, long day I could hardly keep the tears from my eyes as I thought of the scores and scores around us who sit wailing and grieving, and yet you—you"—

"I haven't shed any tears or seen any call for it. Should a grieving woman or a weeping child call here tonight, however"—

"You'd break their necks with a crowbar—you know you would!" he shouted, as he stamped about and emotion colored his nose clear down to the tip. "You sit here and wait for sorrow to come to you, while I"—

"While you do the same thing."

"By thunder, woman, but you won't fling that in my face a second time. I was intending to go out anyhow, but now nothing can stop me. Yes, I will take a walk out and find and alleviate sorrow, and let despairing humanity see that it has at least one friend in this selfish world."

Mrs. Bowser made no objections, although he rather hoped she would, and he walked slowly down the hall and donned his overcoat and hat and passed out into the night.

His very first move was to slip on the steps and roll to the bottom, and love for general humanity was replaced by cuss words for the next five minutes, but he finally got the old feeling back and started down the street.

Sorrow, grief and misfortune were also looking for him. A Weary William bobbed up almost at once, and in a pathetic tone proceeded to say that his wife had consumption, his children the mumps and he himself was afflicted with two different and separate cricks in the back. There was neither fire nor food in the house, and the hard hearted landlord had just given notice of eviction and the gas man had left the rooms in darkness. W. W. was looking for some one to sorrow with him—some one to weep in chorus—some one who would advance half a dollar and wait until he got to that better land for his reward.

Mr. Bowser listened patiently for ten minutes and then backed into his own yard and said:

"You old rascal, but you are lying to me! It wasn't over three days ago I saw you drunk!"

"Won't you sorrow with me?" whined the man.

"Not a blamed sorrow."

"Won't you grieve?"

"Not a bit."

"Won't your feelin's for a feller bein' in distress permit you to hand over a quarter?"

"Not a durned cent!"

"Then, you infernal old hypocrite"—

And then Mrs. Bowser and the cat heard the riot and ran to the front door. Mr. Bowser, who was hatless, lay on the ground where he had fallen, and the tramp was making off at a 2:10 gait with his four dollar hat.

"Well, did you find any one sitting in the shadow of black despair?" asked Mrs. Bowser, as she went down to the fallen man, who had received a bang on the nose.

"C-call the police!" shouted Mr. Bowser.

"Never mind the police, dear. You set out to comfort and console and let grieving humanity know that it had one friend left, and now you come in and let me take the dirt out of the back of your neck and sing you to sleep!"

And Mr. Bowser was so dazed and stunned that he followed her like a trusting lamb. M. QUAD.

A redheaded man met a baldheaded man on the street one day. The redheaded man said to the baldheaded man:

"Huh! There doesn't seem to have been much hair where you came from."

"Oh, yes," replied the baldheaded man, "there was plenty of hair, but it was all red, and I wouldn't have it."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Exasperating Docility.

"He seems to be such a lamblike man."

"Yes; I always feel sheepish after I've been in his presence a little while for not knocking him down, just as a protest against his confounded aggressive humility."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Colds.

Every one knows when he contracts a cold on the chest. Not so with cold in the kidneys and bowels. The kidneys, however, are the weak point in many men and women nowadays, and they may be well protected by wearing a roll of white flannel, which should be about a foot wide and go twice around the waist for winter and once for summer. Try it, reader, if you have any tendency to bladder or kidney trouble.—Exchange.

The Wheelmen's club of Wilkesbarre are in camp for ten days at Rocky Forest.

An accident happened to the Skinners Eddy section men on Saturday morning, which resulted in the death of one man. They were just going out to work about 6:50 a. m. and when just below the stoneyard an engine and tender came upon them and the men jumped from the hand car and Pietro Spinelli, an Italian, jumped in front of the car which knocked him down and the engine followed on, smashing the car to kindling wood and killing the man instantly. The body was dragged about 350 feet and terribly mangled. He was 25 years old and leaves a father and mother in Italy. The body was interred in Lacey street cemetery. The cause of the accident was a heavy fog and engineer did not see the men until he was right upon them and that no more were killed was very fortunate.

On Saturday just before noon G. W. Walters received a painful injury caused by a spike which he was driving flying and striking him in the eye. He went to a specialist in Wilkesbarre on No. 4 and when last heard from it was thought the sight of the eye would not be destroyed.

CLAIMS THAT GINSENG IS PROFITABLE CROP.

Writer in Scranton Tribune Says That There Is Money in It.

Despite the assertions of the United States department of agriculture that the ginseng industry is being greatly overworked and that the market is very liable to be overstocked, a writer in the Scranton Tribune gives the following interesting letter on the other side of the question:

Editor of The Tribune—

Sir: For the past five years the writer has devoted a great deal of time and to the study of profit-bearing crops, and next to the rubber industry of South America there is nothing I have seen so profitable as the culture of ginseng.

After reading the government statistics concerning the plant, I wrote W. A. Bates, of Cuba, N. Y., who is probably the largest grower in the United States, stating the object I had in view and asking for such information as he could give me. In reply I received a work on "Ginseng" written by himself and also an invitation to visit his garden.

It is not my purpose in this brief article to give a description of his garden, but rather to show what profit there is in the business; in order that many who are in ignorance of this valuable product may have their eyes opened to it and perhaps join in swelling the amount annually exported to China, and incidentally assist in creating a new source of wealth for the agricultural communities of the United States.

The amount of ginseng which can be annually exported to China without over-stocking the market is reported by United States Consul Johnson (who made a very exhaustive examination of the subject) to be over $20,000,000 worth. Now as the United States has never exported ginseng to the extent of $1,000,000 annually, it will readily be seen that the field for an extensive and lucrative business is open to themselves of the advice of those who are posted on this subject.

Ginseng grows in rich and damp, but not wet or muddy soils, such as prevail in the following states: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachaussetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alamaba, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, but by cultivation and a proper treatment of the various soils this natural range can be greatly increased; in fact it can be grown almost anywehre in the temperature zone.

From figures furnished by Mr. Bates the following, showing how an acre of ginseng can be started from 2,000 fine selected seed bearing roots planted in 1904, and figured for a period of five years, is more than justified by the results of his garden.

These 2,000 plants should average 20 seeds to the plant summer of 1905, and 50 seeds to the plant each following year—first year 40,000 seeds; second year 100,000 seeds. As it takes 18 months for ginseng seeds to germinate, seeds of 1905 crop will produce plants spring of 1907; seeds of 1906 crop will produce plants spring of 1908; seeds of 1907 will produce plants spring of 1909, and at the end of this period of time should have 200,000 growing plants allowing 40,000 seeds for loss, besides having the 1908 and 1909 crops of seed on hand and the 2,000 roots you began with figured on the same basis as above viz., 2 ozs. to the root, figured at $9 per lb would make a total of $750 cash, 20,000 growing plants, or an acre and 200,000 seeds on hand.

In speaking of ginsang Mr. Bates says:

"Anyone can start in the ginseng business who has a will and a plot of ground. I have started quite a number with a few seeds and roots from my garden, who are today in position to realize a comfortable fortune therefrom in the next few years."

By the courtesy of Mr. Bates, whom I have always found to be willing to assist others in procuring a start, I am enabled to show a bed (4ft.x186ft) of five year old plants, ready to harvest as soon as the seed falls, which realize at market prices about $3,400, or as much as the entire income from a large farm planted to ordinary crops. This should cause readers to pause and consider the propriety of planting, at least, a small lot.

The expense attached to an experimental bed is so trival that no one can afford to neglect this matter.

BRYAN'S SUPPORT.

Bryan says he will support the ticket nominated by the Democratic National Convention. How loyally and helpful his support will be is indicated by the declarations made by him in a speech after the convention.

"I have nothing to take back. I have nothing to withdraw of the things that I have said against the methods pursued to advance his candidacy. It was a plain and deliberate attempt to deceive the party. The New York platform was vague and meaningless, and purposely so, because the advocates of Judge Parker were trying to secure votes from among the people who would have opposed his views had they known them.

"If he had sent to the Albany convention the telegram that he sent to the St. Louis convention he would have had very few instructed delegates from the South, and no possible chance for the nomination. But he and his managers adroitly and purposely concealed his position until the delegates had been corralled and the nomination assured. Then his friends attempted to secure a gold standard plank, which was overwhelmingly defeated in the committee."

This means that Bryan will keep his regularity in the party by voting for the ticket nominated, but that he will secretely knife it by objections to the platform and criticism of the candidate.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

POLICE WERE BOTHERED.

Difficulty Experienced in Locating a Demented Girl's Friends.

The Towanda police force had a rather baffling and peculiar case to deal with on Wednesday night and Thursday in the person of a feeble-minded girl about 12 years of age, who landed in Towanda off from a Lehigh Valley train some time during the day. During the evening a man named Burgess, living near the toy factory, brought to Chief Miller the girl, who he had found wandering about the upper station unable to tell her name, where she came from or where she was going. Burgess gave the child her supper.

Chief Miller questioned the girl, but to nearly every question she would answer "yes." She gave three or four different names. It was finally learned that a telegram had been received here for D. D. Chilson, stating that a daughter of his deceased wife, named Barnes, was coming. This clue was traced out and it was learned yesterday that the girl had been sent to relatives in Tioga county after her mother's death. They had grown tired of caring for her and returned he to Towanda. The girl had wandered about town during the afternoon, had gone to the East Towanda station in the evening and boarded the local train, only to be put off at the upper station by the conductor.

Chilson declared himself unable to care for the girl and she was taken in charge by the county commissioners to be sent to Burlington.

Towanda Mixers are Willing.

A Towanda mixologist who talked as spokesman for the Towanda bartenders, wishes The Review to accept the wordy challenge of the Athens and Sayre bartenders to a game of base ball, to be played on the Towanda grounds at any old time the visitors see fit to name. The locals aver that whether the balls delivered be "high," low or Scotch, they can outpoint their rivals with ease.

Returned to Germany

Miss Elfriede Dittrich, a young lady who for the past year and a half resided in the home of William Dittrich, left Towanda Friday for New York and today will sail on the Victoria for her home at Clauthal, Hanover, Germany. Miss Dittrich has been a student of the Towanda Business College while living here, and has made a great many friends among the young people.

THIS YEAR'S CROP.

Season Ought to Prove Profitable For Farmers.

"All things considered, this year promises to be a favorable and prosperous one to the Pennsylvania farmer," said Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Martin in discussing the crop conditions in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Martin said that wheat will possibly not average more than fifty per cent of a full crop and that much injury has been done to the crop in Fayette and adjoining counties by the Hessian fly.

The oat crop is promising, and a yield above the average is predicted. Grass and pasture is everywhere abundant, and the hay crop is the largest ever grown in the state.

The corn crop is in most localities backward and unpromising. The average of potatoes is possibly less than last year but gives promise of good yield.

Mr. Martin reported that nearly all vegetables had made rapid growth and promises a good crop. He predicted a large apple crop, and said that pears, plums and cherries in most localities were abundant.

"In Alleghany and part of Westmoreland county," continued Mr. Martin, "heavy storms and cloudbursts have destroyed the crops on numerous farms. A certain blight has seriously affected the wheat crops in portions of York, Adams and adjoining counties, which was only sectional in its ravages."

Elected an Officer.

At the state convention of the Christian Endeavor societies Miss Mollie Rice of Rome was elected superintendent of the correspondence department.

METHOD AND MEANS.

Publicity of the Pushing, Persistent Variety Will Bring Business.

The politician who endeavors to "arrive" makes publicity his first aim, and he keeps it up continually until the matter is finally decided by the voters. Then he perhaps tries again on the same lines, with success. But he must have the goods to deliver if he deserves to win.

It is just the same way with the merchant, no matter in what line he may be dealing; he must court publicity, let the people, that is all the people, know that he has the best goods in sufficient quanity at right prices. A single announcemnt won't do the business, either. It must be kept up the year 'round—persistent, pushing publicity.

If that merchant is doing business in Towanda or Bradford county there are just two mediums through which to present his campaign. The Daily Review for Towanda and immediate vicinity; The Reporter-Journal and Bradford Republican for the county at large. The papers reach practically every household in the county. Towanda business men know what The Review is, and the majority of them know what it can do for their business. The average issue for June was 1,380 copies each week day.

The Reporter-Journal and Republican this week contained 56 columns. It contained a comprehensive story of the week's news of the county; it presented 47 letters from as many towns and neighborhoods in the same territory; it's account of the Democratic convention was full and complete, and the latest dispatches on the Russo-Japanese war were printed. Another most desirable feature is the "Farm, Orchard and Garden" department, and Pennsylvania news in short paragraphs another. A story or two rounded out a complete county newspaper.

Such a newspaper is read thoroughly by the best class of people, the people who buy. It is a self evident fact that the business announcements are closely scanned by these readers. If the merchant has the goods to deliver as he advertises, the returns will be prompt and sure. For the six months ending June 31, an average of 5,503 copies were printed and circulated each issue.

Rates for space are reasonable for the service performed, and will be cheerfully furnished on request.

Has a New Position.

Miss Emma J. Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wells of Ulster, who has been a successful teacher in the public schools of Wellsboro, has resigned her position in the Intermediate department. She has accepted a position as a teacher in the Dorand Institute at Hot Springs, North Carolina, a boarding school for girls, which is under the control of the Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian church.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Scores Made by Teams in and Around the County.

The defeat which Towanda administered to the Father Mathew team seems to have broken them all up. On Saturday Addison defeated them by a score of 22 to 5. Father Mathew made 11 errors and the game was an exhibition of old time base ball. Addison's victory puts them at the head of the Southern Tier league with Father Mathew in second place.

The Troy base ball team added another victory to its list Friday by defeating the Covington team to the tune of four to one. The feature of the game was the pitching of Parsons, who made 19 of the Covington team fan the air. Childs, the Covington shortstop, was hit in the eye by a batted ball, but gamely played to the finish. Campbell and McVay were the battery for Covington; Parsons and Denmark for Troy.

The Triton team of Tunkhannock defeated Berwick on Saturday by a score of 10 to 3. Newberry pitched a magnificent game, allowing only three hits. Despite nine errors by the Tritons Berwick only got three runs out of it. Newberry struck out 11 batsmen.

Raiding Speakeasies.

Mayor Langan of Pittston is waging a war on speakeasies. He gave all persons suspected of selling liquor without a license a warning several weeks ago and now the city police force is told to raid every place heard of. Three places were run down the other night and twelve persons captured. The proprietors of the places were fined $15 each and every person caught frequenting them was taxed $3 each.
